

ANIMAL EMERGENCY SERVICE

Working in VETERINARY EMERGENCY can feel like one of the toughest jobs in the world. It is pets like TIGGER the cocker spaniel, that really make the long difficult hours feel worth while.

Tigger came to Animal Emergency Service for a 'FOREIGN BODY INGESTION'. He swallowed one of his plastic ball toys and became extremely ill requiring abdominal surgery to remove pieces of the toy. The team at Animal Emergency Service was able to run diagnostics, perform life saving surgery and help bring this gorgeous boy back to his happy self! Recently Tigger and his dad visited our team to say hello and THANK YOU. You are more than welcome!

We want to thank YOU Tigger, for being such a delight in hospital. Thanks must also go to your loving dad for bringing you to us so our team could help!

We love helping your beloved pets! If we've helped your pet, we'd love to hear about it! It really brightens up our shifts – more than you know!

For more information on foreign body ingestion, including symptoms – visit our website.

www.animalemergencyservice.com.au